

SIDE EFFECTS

Welcome to SIDE EFFECTS: A Prescription Joy Newsletter! Below are highlights from our recent visit that we wanted to share with you!

DID YOU KNOW?

Radiation creates super powers in comic books. In hospitals, it causes electronic fart machines to fire uncontrollably on their own. This leaves many in tears of laughter...or just confused.

ON WEDNESDAY... Joe and Goe introduced Fidoe, our new vacuum-pup to the patients, family, and staff of Children's Hospital. Folks can help “feed” Fidoe by holding out his “food” (cut up Mardi Gras beads) for him to suck up with his bristly mouth. We visited several clinics and waiting rooms, introducing our new lovable friend. He caused many young children to giggle with joy as he lapped up his treats.

Whilst perusing the halls of Children's, Joe and Goe were inundated with high pitched squeals of delight from a gaggle of small girls enjoying the site of Goe in the trashcan and Joe’s big mustache. The squealing continued as the girls rode the elevator down to the next floor. Delightful!

In the main lobby, the two janitors entertained a family waiting on a loved one with fish tank cleaning antics and a silly magic trick. On the way out, (after Joe and Goe were out of their uniforms) they noticed the loved one had returned to the family and was fast asleep from a full day of being brave. They snuck her a little glow in the dark bracelet for her to wake up to and bid the family farewell.

We had an amazing day at Children's, and their new lobby and skybridge are absolutely beautiful! We can't wait to come back on the 19th!

We have been hard at work behind the scenes too, writing grants, filing tax paperwork, and receipts.

Oh, the receipts!
